IMAGINING THE FUTURE COMPETITION

Do you ever daydream about what life will be like in a technology-enabled future? Did you predict the SMS phenomenon, email, iPod, or Google? Do you feel no one listens to your ideas? Now is your chance to be heard!

NICTA, Australia's ICT Centre for Excellence, wants to hear your vision of a novel technology that you believe will change the world as we know it. Your idea should (re)define the way we will live, play, and work in the future, and will be judged on its originality, creativity and future commercial value.

NICTA is offering $2,000 to the most imaginative idea enabled by technology

Open to all students studying at an Australian University
